Hank and Joli's Farm Fresh Produce

Our CSA goal is to provide a variety of carefully produced vegetables, herbs and flowers to individuals and families. Each year we accept a specific number of shares and grow accordingly. Participation remains open until the shares have sold out. The season begins when there is produce available, usually sometime in May.

We enrich our soil with compost, organic matter and minerals to provide our plantings with the best possible growing environment. With healthy soil you get stronger plants. A strong plant has a better chance to resist disease and survive pest pressures. Our methods of companion planting, crop rotation, pest control, soil enrichment and water management allow us to provide you with nutrient rich, healthful food.

What is a CSA – This stands for Community Supported Agriculture. It links aware consumers and a local farm. A subscriber to a CSA farm pays in advance for a share of the farm's seasonal produce. On a weekly basis throughout the growing season, shares of the harvest are available for either pick-up or home delivery. A subscriber invests in the farm; the farmer invests their time, resources and expertise to provide the subscriber with an interesting assortment of naturally grown, freshly picked produce. Both sides are subject to the goodwill of Mother Nature, and therefore share the risk.

What is a Share – A share is based on 4 home cooked meals per week, plus some snacking. The seasonally available vegetables, herbs and flowers are available for either pick-up or home delivery once per week, for 20 weeks.

Full Share – Based on a family of 4 (2 adults and 2 children) or 2 adult vegetarians. Per-season price for product is $690.

Half Share – Based on 2 adults. Per-season price for product is $350.

Delivery charge is $2 per delivery x 20 weeks = $40.00
